

Addressing Trauma in Primary Care
March 25, 2018
2 - 4 pm

Join The REACH Institute for a FREE event in West Palm Beach. All pediatric providers are welcome.

REACH faculty who work with traumatized children and adolescents will lead the presentation. They will provide an overview of trauma symptoms, how to discuss individual and mass traumatic events with children and adolescents, and the evidence-based treatments that can help them. The presentation will be followed by a Q&A with the faculty.

REACH Faculty:

Elizabeth Wallis, M.D.

Director, Division of Adolescent Medicine
Medical University of South Carolina

Lawrence Amsel M.D., M.P.H.

Assistant Professor of Clinical Psychiatry
Columbia University College of Physicians and Surgeons

Cathryn A. Galanter, M.D.

Associate Professor of Psychiatry and Training Director, Child and Adolescent Psychiatry Fellowship Program
State University of New York Downstate/Kings County Hospital Center

Elena Man, M.D.

Pediatrician, Carlisle Pediatric Associates
Board Chair, The REACH Institute

Moderator:

Eugene Hershorin, M.D.

Director of Developmental Behavioral Pediatrics, University of Miami
Secretary, Florida Chapter of the American Academy of Pediatrics

This event will be held at the Embassy Suites West Palm Beach - 1601 Belvedere Road. To help us plan seating, please email ppp@thereachinstitute.org if you plan to attend. We're excited to discuss this important topic with you on Sunday.

The REACH Institute is a nonprofit dedicated to ensuring that the most effective, scientifically proven mental health care reaches all children and families. www.thereachinstitute.org